

Dear Alumni,

If you had to name one place at PVA that carries that most memories for you, what would it be? The SA banquets in the gym? The friends and mischief of the dorms? Food fights in the cafeteria (I hope not)? The science room...nah (Sorry Mr. Goodchild)?

What special memories do you have from PVA's chapel? For me there are many. Week of Prayer, afterglows, chapel, movies, Junior/Senior Play, segregated vespers (I didn't say they were all good) and the list can go on. I think of the popular song entitled "The House that Built Me." Pictures and friends inspire memories, but a building represents moments that made us who we are today.

It's for these reasons that I'm excited that we, as PVA alumni, have the opportunity to see a little bit of PVA live on and help create new memories for more students. College View Academy is in real need of new chapel chairs. PVA's chapel chairs avoided demolition, and CVA worked hard to retrieve them from GPA. Now, CVA is going to be installing these chairs in their own chapel. This is of interest to our alumni, especially as CVA has become our new home for alumni gatherings.

I would love to see our alumni rally together to partner with CVA in this endeavor by helping offset the costs. I challenge you to donate to this great opportunity to memorialize a bit of PVA. The benefit to you is knowing that PVA is literally and figuratively supporting Adventist Christian education.

Only available to PVA's alumni, with a donation of $100 or more, you can sponsor a chair, and in return your name will be placed on the chair. Maybe a few of your classmates can band together and have your class sponsor a chair, or even a row. Any donation would be greatly appreciated by me and the great people at College View Academy.

An envelope from CVA has been provided for you to send in your donation and I thank you in advance for your support of CVA and the PVA legacy.

Sincerely,
